Description: Awareness through art and drawing activity

The National Cadet Corps (NCC) has played a pivotal role in shaping the future leaders of our nation. Its mission not only revolves around military training but also focuses on developing well-rounded individuals who are socially responsible and aware. One creative and powerful means through which 21 BN & 8 BN G NCC cadets are fostering awareness is the art of painting. Painting, with its ability to convey messages, emotions, and ideas, is an effective tool for raising awareness. In NCC, it has been harnessed as a means to engage cadets in thought-provoking conversations, shed light on crucial issues, and inspire change.

Assistant Professor & CTO NCC Invertis University instructed to prepare the poster through drawing & Art. Under Puneet Sagar Abhiyan many NCC painting sessions center around themes of patriotism and love for the nation. Cadets often depict the Indian flag, national symbols, and historic events in their artwork, instilling a sense of pride and duty towards their country. With growing environmental concerns, NCC cadets paint to highlight the importance of preserving the environment. Their artwork advocates for sustainable practices, reforestation, and wildlife conservation. NCC also uses painting to address pressing social issues such as gender equality, poverty, and education. Cadets express their views on these topics, spreading awareness and advocating for change. Mental and physical health are vital aspects of an individual's life. NCC encourages cadets to create art that promotes healthy living and raises awareness about mental health issues. Collaborative painting projects enhance teamwork and camaraderie among NCC cadets, fostering unity and cohesion. Using painting as a means of enhancing awareness in NCC is a brilliant initiative that harnesses the creative potential of cadets. It goes beyond the boundaries of conventional training and helps shape responsible citizens who are not only physically fit and disciplined but also socially conscious. This creative approach is a testament to the holistic development that NCC strives to provide for its cadets.
